Introducing Nursing Now

Nursing Now aims to improve health globally by raising the profile and status of nurses worldwide.

In collaboration with the World Health Organization and International Council of Nurses, we work to support nurses to lead, learn and build a global movement.

Nursing Now believes that:

1. Nurses should be empowered to use their knowledge, skills and expertise.
2. Nurses should be supported to drive health promotion, disease prevention and treatment.
3. Health decision-making needs nurses to be more involved.
4. Health leaders should develop new models of care that maximise nursing's contributions to achieving Universal Health Coverage.
5. Governments should invest in improving nurses' working conditions, training and leadership skills.
