

MUNA AL HUSSEIN

Dear nurses,

I would like to extend my best wishes to every single one of you, on your international day, as you continue to set great examples of heroism and dedication in 2020, the Year of the Nurse, a year full of challenges, but also hope.

I hope that your day today will add to your strength, determination, and steadfastness, and will motivate you further to excel and innovate.

I am sure you have gained great expertise that would enable you to effect positive change for a better future and for the nursing profession, in order to bolster public health and safety and achieve the Sustainable Development Goals.

I am truly pleased to see you all receive the admiration you truly deserve at the national, regional, and global levels, in appreciation of your blessed efforts, especially in countering the COVID-19 epidemic.

My friends,

Unleash your full potential and capabilities. You have created this great opportunity for yourselves, through your hard work, determination, and your dedicated care for the sons and daughters of your nations. You have made your leaders proud before the world of your achievements during these extraordinary circumstances that the whole world is facing.

We are all proud of you, and may God bless your efforts and those of your families.

To me you have always been and will be "My Heroes"

Happy International Nurses Day!
